

Daniel Brewer

Daniel is a trusted real estate advisor to a variety of clients across the DC, Maryland, and Virginia markets in search of a highly professional and deeply customized experience.

His clients range from first time homebuyers, empty nesters, growing families, and investors, to Members of the United States Congress and Senate, a US Vice President, an Attorney General, a Solicitor General, the former Finance Minister, and international news anchors.

Daniel is also well-respected within the brokerage community, which helps his sellers during negotiations with buyers, and his buyer clients secure their homes — no matter the competition. By blending his business savvy and extensive design expertise, Daniel is able to transform sellers' properties to show at their absolute best, negotiate offers to their maximum potential, and match his buyers to their ideal homes.

Daniel's stellar reputation for transparency, candor, and unflinching honesty — delivered with his indelible wit — extends beyond his long-standing clients and onto his new ones.